

This crow kept ripping the branches off of this tree and dropping them. It eventually flew away with the branch pictured.